

Introducing...

The International Association of Bookkeepers

Why do accountancy practices choose the IAB first when up-skilling their staff with financial qualifications?

Founded over 40 years ago, the IAB not only sets the highest qualification standards, it has a global reputation for professional expertise.

If you're a logical thinker, great with numbers and meticulous, bookkeeping could be the career for you. In fact, IAB bookkeeping, accounting and payroll qualifications offer countless opportunities and more...

The IAB... the professional choice

- The International Association of Bookkeepers is the leading UK awarding body for professional bookkeepers.
- Regulated by Ofqual, the IAB is an approved and statutory supervisory organisation offering a wealth of recognised accounting qualifications – some in collaboration with Sage.
- With over 10,000 members across the UK and worldwide, the IAB is the go-to organisation for bookkeeping professionals.

What's more, IAB qualified staff offer in-demand skills – giving your small business or accountancy practice a competitive edge.

Why are IAB qualifications best for business?

Whether you sub-contract an IAB member to offer bookkeeping services, or train in-house staff to world-class standards, the IAB offers an outstanding opportunity to access the very best financial qualifications.

In addition:

- With the assurance that those with IAB qualifications have demonstrated their ability to meet stringent competency levels, recruiting reliable staff is easy.
- IAB qualifications enable your staff to develop new skills in bite-size chunks at a pace to suit your business.
- IAB members are not only qualified, but regulated and required to continue their professional development – ensuring your clients receive the most professional service.

At the IAB, we even make it easy for you to find your nearest registered bookkeeper. Check out our website for more details.
